WTC95503 – Last Hallow's Eve Booster Display (24 packs @ RRP £2.99)

Trick or Tragedy? Either way, the world ends on Last Hallow's Eve, just as YOU have always planned! This first expansion of the groundbreaking trading card game brings players closer to doom! New mechanics, creatures and powers will have players and collectors alike snatching up this release!!

A dark, challenging two-player or multiplayer trading card game (TCG) in which you combine creatures into hideous abominations to defeat your opponents and destroy the world. Hecatomb cards are five-sided, with a clear edge on four out of the five sides. Players stack cards on top of each other, turning individual creatures (cards) into hybrid abominations. An abomination uses the power and special abilities of all the creatures used to assemble it. The clear edges allow players to see the power scores and abilities of up to 5 cards stacked together. Players combine their creatures in the most effective ways they can, then use the resulting abominations to steal the opponents' points ("reap souls"). Once a player has built up his power base, he can end the world.

Heretics of Tarantia is a Conan Roleplaying Game scenario of a different breed. ### FUG001 – Carcassonne: The Discovery (RRP £18.99)

A new Carcassonne variant. The people of the Carcassonne region have decided to expand to distant lands. The players explore and discover the geography of the surrounding area, facing the dangers of the sea and the mountains and exploring the vast grasslands. The skill and strategy of the players exploring these new territories and their approach to controlling them by deploying their followers as brigands, navigators, and explorers will determine who is victorious. Unlike the original Carcassonne, regions are not automatically scored when completed. Instead, you can choose to score any one of your followers ("meeples") on your turn, but get more points if the region has been completed.

HAS50996 – Buckarool Dolph (RRP £14.99)

Buckaroololph is a festive version of Buckaroo, the classic spring-loaded balancing game that has enthralled and amused players for donkey's (or should that be mule's) years. With his daft antlers, false red nose and Christmas blanket, it's no wonder Buckaroololph is mad. And that's before you've attempted to load a single Santa stocking or Christmas cracker alongside his regular Wild West accoutrements.

FUG004 – Slow Freight (RRP £4.99)

In Slow Freight, you'll be assembling freight trains and moving them toward their final destination. It would be easy if it weren't for your competitors who take the cargo you're looking for. And since undelivered freight costs you points in the end, you'll be racing against the clock with that Slow Freight!
